

Education Report

Sunday classes had only begun in 2020 when Covid-19 struck, causing the end of classes in March.

Students were able to participate in classes in the Fall, with two Zoom classes per month and two outdoor services available.

The highlight of a challenging year was the Christmas Pageant, which brightened spirits with an all-digital presentation. Thanks are due to Michelle Gallagher, Director, as well as Joe Zorc and Jean Gentile, whose digital smarts made the event happen. Special thanks are also due to the parents and students whose hard work made the Pageant a success.

A new challenge for teachers is developing another presentation where students may participate.

We are also hopeful in-person classes can resume relatively soon as Covid-19 vaccines arrive in our community.

Special tanks are due to Father James for helping to develop new ideas for teachers, parents and students in this unusual year.
